

Dan Pickering is the Chief Investment Officer of Pickering Energy Partners (PEP). PEP is an energy financial services company spanning traditional energy and the energy transition via business units focused on Investments, Insights, Consulting and Advisory.

Prior to PEP, Mr. Pickering served as the President of Tudor, Pickering, Holt & Company. He's spent the past 27 years as an energy portfolio manager, researcher and analyst, first at Fidelity Investments, then as Head of Research at Simmons & Company and as the founding partner of Tudor, Pickering, Holt & Co.

Dan grew up in Missouri, has a BS in Petroleum Engineering from the Missouri School of Science and Technology and an MBA from the University of Chicago.

Personal Anecdote/Tidbits

Dan sits on the Board of Trustees for Texas Children's Hospital, the Texas Children's Hospital Foundation, and the Posse Foundation, as well as the Advisory Board of Tudor, Pickering, Holt & Co, Capital Creek Partners, Midway Companies, the Houston CFA Society and the Energy ESG Council.

He likes being an old dad to a young daughter, traveling, reality TV shows, Twitter and golf. He's many years into being an aggravated Houston Texans season ticket holder.